BACKGROUND AND ACCOMPLISHMENTS

At the state level, the GACEC has served since 1972 as the Advisory Council for Exceptional Children with a primary mandate to advise the State Board of Education in reference to the education of children with special needs, including those with outstanding talents. Delaware Senate Bill 353, passed in 1977, constituted Council as the Governor's Advisory Council for Exceptional Citizens and expanded its responsibilities to cover a broad range of human service needs (including education) for all citizens.

GACEC has served as the state advisory panel for Special Education since the initial passage in 1974 of the federal special education statute, Education of the Handicapped Act (EHA). GACEC continues to serve in this capacity under the reauthorized law the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA), and its amendments.
